The elucidation of these genomes will also benefit human medicine by identifying novel genes and their function that are critical for human health. It is important that the genetic and physical maps, and the reagents used to build them, are freely accessible and in the public domain. The bovine and swine genomics research communities need additional laboratory resources to allow more efficient use of current human and mouse mapping information to solve production inefficiency and health problems and contribute to increasing the global competitiveness of these livestock industries. Bovine BAC Map An international effort ( International Bovine BAC Mapping Consortium; IBBMC ) was initiated to develop a physical BAC-based map of the bovine genome. Clones from three publicly available bovine BAC libraries were fingerprinted and end-sequenced to develop the bovine BAC map. The three BAC libraries were generated from three common breeds, Holstein, Hereford, and Angus. A total of 295, 000 clones have been fingerprinted ( 15....
