I cannot remember the time when I was not writing, or when I did not mean to be an author. To write has always been my central purpose around which every effort and hope and ambition of my life has grouped itself. I was an indefatigable little scribbler, and stacks of manuscripts, long ago reduced to ashes, alas, bore testimony to the same. I wrote about all the little incidents of my existence. I wrote descriptions of my favourite haunts, biographies of my many cats, histories of visits, and school affairs, and even critical reviews of the books I had read. One wonderful day, when I was nine years old, I discovered that I could write poetry. I had been reading Thomson s Seasons, of which a little black, curly-covered atrociously printed copy had fallen into my hands. So I composed a poem called Autumn in blank verse in imitation thereof. I wrote it, I remember, on the back of one of the long red letter bills then used in the postal service. It was seldom easy for me to get all the paper I wanted, and those blessed old letter bills were positive boons. Grandfather kept the post office, and three times a week a discarded letter bill came my grateful way. The Government was not so economical then as now, at least in the matter of letter bills; they were then half a yard long....
