In the year 1798 was incorporated a company for opening a canal from Philadelphia to Man i. iou n, a drstance of about sixteca miles; and in 1792, another for the construction of a water communication, partly by canals, and partly by creeks, from Reading 10 Middletown. on the. -Misqieliiaumi, a distance of about seventy-six miles. The capital of each wns 400, 000. The schemes were both examined, and pionounced practicable, by Mr. Wcsten, an accomplished surveyor. The cost of the first he estimated at 400, 000, of the second at 1, 221, 330. The secretary of the navy, however, in his report, differed from Mr Westen, and made tlie cost of the fiist amount to 530, 000. In 1794, the sums expended on the first amounted to 420, 000; and at that tinin not more than one third of it was completed....
